AND DIRECT PERIOPERATIVE SERVICES
AT ST. ELIZABETH'S HOSPITAL IN BELLEVILLE, ILLINOIS

BELLEVILLE, IL – Edward Schuessler, MD, a well-known anesthesiologist in the St. Louis area, will join the HSHS Medical Group, Inc. and direct perioperative services at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Richard Rolston, MD, President and Chief Executive Officer of HSHS Medical Group, announced today.

Dr. Schuessler brings a quarter century of health care service and leadership to his new role, which will be to oversee anesthesiology and other related services at St. Elizabeth's, one of the largest hospitals in Southwestern Illinois. He begins his service on November 9.

"We are honored and very pleased that a physician of Dr. Schuessler's reputation and experience has decided to join the HSHS Medical Group and our growing health care family," said Rolston, a pediatrician who is overseeing the expansion of the Medical Group, which right now includes physicians in the central and southern regions of Illinois. "As the HSHS Medical Group grows, we are looking to physicians of the caliber of Ed Schuessler to help us retain and attract top-flight healers who want to embrace our dedication to high quality, compassionate and efficient health care."

"The Hospital Sisters Health System has an excellent reputation for providing high quality, compassionate care," stated Dr. Schuessler. "I am excited to join the HSHS Medical Group as they continue to grow and honored they have placed their confidence in me to lead the program at St. Elizabeth's Hospital."
